❖ Why travel as a student?

Although there is never a bad time to see the world, traveling when you're a student is particularly rewarding for a whole host of reasons. We'll give you advice on what to do, where to do it and, most importantly, how you can make it all happen for the best possible price. We always have discounts and deals on train flights, hotels, cars, Hire/Transfers, and tours.

Traveling as a student is important for so Many Reasons.

We could easily list 100 reasons here, but here are our top five! ;-

Discounts & Deals

There are TONS of deals to be snapped up when you're a student, both in the planning stages and also once in-destination. At CIDALI Educational Trips we always have student deals available, deals on tours and discounts on accommodation.

Personal Growth

Traveling Builds Confidence - There's nothing like traveling to send your confidence into overdrive, and no matter what career you ultimately pursue, nothing will get you further than confidence and a healthy mindset. Whether you're hostel-hopping in Kenya around Africa, Europe, Asia, middle east, USA, Australia, or on a sailing adventure in Mediterranean or negotiating the Trans-Siberian Express, you'll return home a totally different person.

Real world experience

It's all well and good learning things in theory in a classroom, but nothing can substitute actual real life experience when it comes to taking things in on that vocational level. This is why traveling as a student is such a great time to do it - you can merge these two types of education.

Employers love it!

Travel experience frequently pushes candidates to the top of the pile when applying for jobs. Think about it: if everyone's taken the same courses and has reasonably similar grades, employers will be looking for that extra something to make people stand out. Travel is often the answer to that. Plus, you'll have all that confidence mentioned earlier - it goes a long way!

Break from studies

Studies are super important - we know you know that - but it's important to find a balance, too. The last thing you want to do is burn yourself out, spending endless nights up to the early hours, gulping down energy drinks (and other types...). Travel gives you a literal breath of fresh air, and provides really valuable perspective on things

❖ School-Based University Outreach Programmes

CIDALI Educational Services offers a wide range of outreach activities for schools and colleges, teachers and students in our link areas. It is a three-day programme that University colleges welcome visits from secondary schools during University term time. These visit days are designed to give pupils a taste of University life and can be adapted for all year groups. An example of a visit might include; -

- A talk about the University- general discussion on the purpose of university, myth-busting, and a brief introduction to University,
- The Workshops for students and teachers can cover topics such as how school qualifications link to university courses,
- The university admissions process and how to prepare for interviews and admissions tests.
- Academic taster sessions at a Museum or Department where students from various schools are invited to participate in a day of lectures and tutorials, Taster days may focus on exploring a particular area of study
- Meeting current undergraduate students
